

BEST AVAILABLE COPY

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus is described which pertains to load sharing/trunking in a communication device used in unicast and/or multicasting interchange of information. A plurality of available ports in the interface cards of the device is identified. More than one port is selected to be 5 configured as a Multi-Link Trunk (MLT) even though the ports may be located on different interface cards.

BEST AVAILABLE COPY